

The innovative-interactive communication system/social network Wave and the media holding Hearts' Radiance are unique projects based on a dual-circuit distributed network of relationships and intersecting information interactions. It consists of a core of a next-generation social network and participants' YouTube channels. Their goal is to illuminate and promote the ideas of the Wave of Love project using mutually reinforcing information technologies, as well as promoting their own projects and initiatives. This integral information portal is aimed at creatively uniting peoples and creating a social-economic system of a new public order that will contribute to the progress of humanity, creativity, and prosperity.

Our media holding will broadcast inspiring and educational content that contributes to the spiritual and cultural development of people, as well as support the idea of harmony, unity, and love as the foundation of our world. Let the wave of love bring light and truth to every corner of our planet!

The information portal "Wave of Love" will have the following structure and functional capabilities:

1. YouTube channels: Participants in the media holding will create YouTube channels and groups on our and third-party social networks. Each will be dedicated to a specific topic related to the ideals of the Wave of Love project (such as spiritual development, uniting peoples, innovative social and economic programs, etc.).
2. Online platform: An interactive online platform will be created where people can communicate, exchange ideas, find support and inspiration, as well as participate in various educational and developmental activities.
3. Social networks: The media holding will have a strong presence on social networks to disseminate information, create communities with like-minded individuals, conduct online events, and campaigns.
4. Events and forums: The media holding will organize various events, conferences, forums, and webinars where people can discuss current topics, share experiences, and find new ideas for creating the future.

In general, the media holding "Wave of Love" will function as a platform for sharing knowledge, experience, and ideas that contribute to the harmonious spiritual and solidarity development of society. It also promotes harmony, world unity, and a love economic model as the basis for interacting with nature and the universe. May each wave bring prosperity and enlightenment to your home!
